Customer Retention Policy

1.1 Triggers for Retention Outreach

- Customer calls to cancel or downgrade service (routed to the "save desk" / retention desk)
- Contract or promotional period nearing expiry
- Usage drop-off, repeated complaints, or billing disputes flagged by churn-prediction models
- Port-out request initiated (number being moved to another carrier)

1.2 Retention Desk Authority

- Frontline representatives typically cannot offer discounts — calls escalate to a specialized retention/loyalty team
- Representatives work within tiered discretion limits (e.g., up to 10% off without approval, more with supervisor sign-off)

1.3 Common Retention Offers

Discounts

- Temporary bill credits (3–12 months)
- Permanent plan-level discounts for long-term loyalty

Plan Upgrades

- More data/minutes at the same price point

Device Incentives

- Subsidized device upgrade
- Trade-in bonus
- Waived upgrade fee

Fee Waivers

- One-time credit for late fees
- Waived activation or reconnection charges

Bundling

- Discount for adding a line
- TV/internet bundle discounts
- Family plan consolidation savings

Contract Renewal Incentives

- Free months of service

- Gift cards
- Free accessories for re-signing

1.4 Eligibility Rules (Summary)

- Offers tiered by customer tenure and value — higher-ARPU or longer-tenure customers get better offers
- Offer-frequency caps apply (e.g., once every 12 months)
- Delinquent accounts excluded until past-due balance is resolved — see Document 3 for detail

1.5 Process & Documentation

- Retention conversations logged in CRM with reason codes (see Document 7)
- Offers require a new minimum term commitment (6–24 months); early cancellation may trigger ETFs
- Post-retention follow-up via satisfaction survey and continued churn-risk monitoring

1.6 Metrics Tracked

Metric	Description
Save Rate	% of at-risk customers successfully retained
Cost per Save	Cost of retention offer vs. cost of new customer acquisition
Repeat-Churn Rate	Rate at which customers churn again after receiving an offer

Placeholder/generic values shown for illustration. Replace with your company's actual figures, terms, and legal review before production use.

Discount & Offer Matrix

Defines the maximum offer a representative or AI system can generate automatically, based on customer tenure tier and monthly plan value. Anything above these caps requires escalation (see Document 4).

2.1 Discount Caps by Tenure Tier

Tenure Tier	Max Auto-Approved Discount	Max Bill Credit Duration	Device Incentive Eligible
0–6 months	5%	3 months	No
6–24 months	10%	6 months	Yes (waived upgrade fee only)
2–5 years	15%	9 months	Yes (trade-in bonus)
5+ years	20%	12 months	Yes (subsidized upgrade)

2.2 Offer Type by Cancellation Reason

Reason Code	Primary Offer	Secondary Offer
Price / competitor offer	Bill credit matching competitor gap (up to tier cap)	Plan upgrade at same price
Coverage / service issue	Service credit + technician follow-up	Free line of network extender / booster
Device dissatisfaction	Device trade-in bonus	Waived upgrade fee
Moving / relocation	Plan transfer assistance	One month free at new address
Financial hardship	Temporary plan downgrade, no ETF	Bill credit (3 months)

2.3 Escalated (Manual Approval) Offers

- Discounts exceeding tier cap (requires supervisor approval)
- Permanent (non-temporary) plan-level discounts
- Multi-line account-wide discounts
- Any offer combining more than two incentive types

Placeholder/generic values shown for illustration. Replace with your company's actual figures, terms, and legal review before production use.

Eligibility & Exclusion Rules

3.1 Eligible Customers

- Active account in good standing (no past-due balance beyond grace period)
- Has not used a retention offer in the past 12 months (unless manually approved)
- Account tenure of at least 30 days

3.2 Excluded / Restricted Cases

- Accounts flagged for fraud or payment disputes
- Accounts with a past-due balance exceeding the grace period (offer generation blocked until resolved)
- Business/enterprise accounts (routed to dedicated B2B account management, not consumer retention flow)
- Accounts already on the maximum allowable discount stack
- Customers within a legally mandated cooling-off/cancellation window (region-dependent; see Document 8)

3.3 Region-Specific Notes

- Some jurisdictions cap total discount stacking or require offer terms to be disclosed in writing before acceptance
- Minors or accounts under guardianship may require additional verification before offer changes

Placeholder/generic values shown for illustration. Replace with your company's actual figures, terms, and legal review before production use.

Approval / Escalation Matrix

Defines what an AI-generated offer may auto-approve versus what requires human review, and the escalation path.

Offer Scenario	Approval Level	SLA
Within tenure-tier discount cap (Document 2)	Auto-approved (AI/rep)	Immediate
Exceeds tier cap by up to 5%	Team lead / supervisor	Same business day
Exceeds tier cap by more than 5%	Retention manager	Within 24 hours
Permanent plan-level discount	Retention manager	Within 24 hours
Multi-line / account-wide discount	Retention manager + finance sign-off	Within 48 hours
High-value account (top ARPU decile)	Senior retention specialist (white-glove handling)	Immediate, dedicated

4.1 AI System Guardrails (Recommended)

- Hard-code discount ceilings in application logic, not just prompt instructions
- Require human-in-the-loop confirmation for any offer above auto-approval threshold
- Log every AI-generated offer with inputs, output, and approval status for audit

Placeholder/generic values shown for illustration. Replace with your company's actual figures, terms, and legal review before production use.

6.2 Renewal & Auto-Renewal

- Contracts auto-renew as month-to-month at standard (non-discounted) rate unless a new offer is accepted
- Customers must be notified in advance of any promotional rate expiring (see Document 8 for disclosure timing)

6.3 Waivers

- ETF may be waived for financial hardship, military deployment, or death of account holder (documentation required)
- ETF waiver requires retention manager approval

Placeholder/generic values shown for illustration. Replace with your company's actual figures, terms, and legal review before production use.

Compliance & Regulatory Guidelines

General consumer-protection considerations relevant to retention offers. This is illustrative only and is not legal advice — consult your legal/compliance team for jurisdiction-specific requirements.

8.1 Disclosure Requirements

- Clearly disclose the promotional period end date and the rate that applies afterward
- Disclose any new minimum term or early termination fee tied to accepting an offer
- Provide offer terms in writing (email/SMS/account portal) in addition to verbal confirmation

8.2 Consent & Marketing

- Do not enroll customers in new marketing communications as a side effect of a retention offer without separate consent
- Respect existing do-not-contact and marketing preferences when generating outreach

8.3 Fair Treatment

- Offers must not discriminate based on protected characteristics
- Pricing and discount logic should be consistent and auditable across similar customer profiles

8.4 Record-Keeping

- Retain records of offers made and accepted per applicable regulatory retention periods
- Maintain audit trail for AI-generated offers, including model version and input data used

Brand Voice / Tone Guide

Guidance for how retention offers should be communicated to customers.

9.1 Tone Principles

- Warm and appreciative — acknowledge the customer's loyalty or the inconvenience they've experienced
- Direct and transparent — state the offer clearly, with no hidden terms
- Non-pushy — avoid high-pressure language or artificial urgency

9.2 Sample Phrases

- "We'd like to make things right — here's what we can offer."
- "Thanks for being with us for [X] years. Here's a plan that better fits your needs."
- "We understand, and we don't want you to pay for something that isn't working. Here's an option."

9.3 Avoid

- Overpromising ("best deal you'll ever get")
- Guilt-tripping or overly emotional appeals
- Burying terms/conditions in fine print without clear verbal or written disclosure
